A GOOD STORY ABOUT ALPHONSE CONEY AND

AN INVITED GUEST AT A RACETRACK. The Coney Island Jockey Club has decided to remain an associate member of the Jockey Club. The present relations between the two are to be continued. It is the desire of the club to avoid as far as possible all issues that are likely to cause friction or dissensions on the turf.

The track at Sheepshend Bay is in magnificent ion, and the horses trained over its smooth condition, and the horses trained over its smooth stretches improve every day. J. E. McDonald's Rubicon is in such high spirits that it was decided by his owner to let him gallop along yesterday a haif-mile to take the "wire edge" off him. To the internse surprise of his owner, Rubicon moved so smoothly, with such a space-devouring stride, that the half-mile was covered in 51½ seconds; the last quarter of a mile was made in 25 seconds. The big chesquit did not draw a long breath when he was chesiaut did not draw a long breath when he was pulled up, but trotted back as if it was an exercisthe stretch at a fair pace. The Keene stable is not nearly as far advanced in training as some of the other stables at Sheepshead Bay.

As reported in The Tribine two weeks ago, August Helmont's stable will be shipped to Washington

Philip J. Dwyer is well pleased with the horses in his stable. Patrician, Leonawell and Kennel are well advanced in their training. The two-year-olds in the stable are not being hurried in their work, ask them the final question as to whether they are owned by the men who invited him to attend the races.

"I will see you on the clubhouse balcony as soon as I have placed my money," was the parting remark of the tout.

The race was run, and, strange to relate, the jeckey on the favorite fell off and the visitor's tickets were apparently worth $5,200. He gave vent to a series of ear-piercing yells and tore around the balcony like a madman. When he had calmed down he sent the tickets in the ring to get cashed by a trusted employe of the clubhouse. After a long time the messenger returned with the information that there were no bookmakers doing business with names like the ones on the tickets he attempted to cash. The guest became frantic, and foamed at the mouth with rage as he blurted out the whole story, emphasizing his assertions by pointed remarks about the honesty of racing and the integrity of jockeys. A meeting was held, and the detective in charge of the track was sent for. The victim was unable to identify the tout. Orders were at once issued to expel all the touts from the track without delay. The orders were obeyed, and every known tout and some innocent horse-owners were unceremoniously hustled outside the gates. Alphonse Coney remained, however, in one of the boxes, and moralized on the depravity of touts and the guilibility of invited guests to a racetrack.

Stark played 200 points, while the for Athletic Club, and the meeting was full of Andover on Soldiers' Field, by a score of 17 to 5. marker had to push up only 255 buttons for the good rasing. In addition to the championship The weather was too cold and the wind blew too hard for skilful fielding. Harvard had a total of eight errors and Andover eleven. Sedgwick, the Andover plicher, was hit safely seventeen times. The features of the games were the fine fielding of Captain Whittemore, for Harvard, and Barnes for Andover. Harvard's two pitchers had no difficulty in holding Andover down to seven hits Barnes and brew, however, each made a three-base hit. The umpiring of "Tim" Keefe was deplorable. Below is the score:

PRINCETON'S EASY VICTORY. Princeton, March 30 (Special).-The game with the Montgomery Athletic Club was chiefly interesting on account of the number of new Princeton players who took part in the contest and the appearance of "Phil" King and other Princeton Alumni pitted against their own college. For Princeton the following new men did well: Sutler at right field, Cochran at first base, Titus and Atland behing the bat and Butler and Wheeler at shortstop. The Princeton players bunched their hits better than they have done before this season. The way the Tikers hit the ball was also very encouraging. Score by innings:

TRIPPOS EXHIBITION GO WITH CURRIE A PAIL-URE, BUT THE OTHER CONTESTS WELE DECIDEDLY EXCITING.

The seventh and last but one of the season of the professional boxing entertainments at the New-York Athletic Club, last night, was a pronounced success. Every one of the contests, excientific contest. Young Griffo failed utterly to do himself justice, although he should already be beginning his training for the contest with "Jack" McAuliffe for $10,000 n side. Griffe's exhibition bout with Currie was a farce, from which the 1.200 spectators, who had been watching spirited bouts the whole evening, turned with exclamaions of disappointment.

George Schwerfer and Charlie Coster as judges, and Evant J. Wendell for timekeeper. The bouts were for purses of $125, $100 to the winner and $25 to the lover, and six rounds' duration. In the set-to between Morris and Baker much fault was found with decision, which was given in favor of the former. McPartland, of New-York, won loud applause by gaining a verdict by clever work over "Jim" Ash, of Boston. The contest between F. Bryant, colored, and T. Carr, white, was a brilliant one all through, both doing clever boxing and straight, determined hitting. The decision went to the darkey, although many in the room though that a draw would have been a more equitable rulling.

James Hickey, a tail athlete, with a dashing, showy style, had the best of T. Sullivan, a shorter and stouter man, who did not reem in good candition, for five rounds. Then he did too much ronning about, and Sullivan evened matters up by rushing his man to the ropes, and succeeded in bringing it out a draw.

A hamr-er-and-tonus, hit-or-miss go was the bout between "BIT" Smith, of the National Athletic Cao, and "Jim" Gibbons, of Long Island. These are two immensely powerful athletes. They threw aside defence almost from the start, and a clean

The second round was a question of which would go under first with the tremendous blows rained on necks and heads. Smith fell after one minute of the round had been contested, and Gibbons got the verdict. The bout between the two colored lightweights—Boland, who had made a draw with George Dixon, and "Joe" Hopkins—was a sensational one. The contest was discontinued in the second round because Boland was unable to rise from a neat left-handed hit on the jaw that dropped him like a shot.

MRS. BENT WAS POISONED.

Louisville, Ky., March 30.-Arsenic has been found n the stomach and liver of Mrs. Mary E. Bent, confirming the suspicion of her husband that her death was due to poison. The result of an analysis has been telegraphed to John W. Bent, at Chicago. and the acrest of one or more persons will soon folabsorbed, most of it evidently having been in the liver. The supposition is that the poison was swalowed in small doses from time to time.

The case is strange in many particulars, Mrs. Bent lived in this city, while her husband resided in Calcago and carried on a real-estate business there. Mrs. Bent and her husband were, it is said, on the best of ferms, and she had made her home here, it is explained, because the climate of Chicago add not agree with her. In her will Mrs. Hent cut off her son by her first husband, James Farley, with $19. About $12.80 of her estate was set askie for charity, the money to be disposed of as the Surveyor of the Louisvile District, B. F. Furniture is simply a matter of what you want to pay. It can be had at almost any price; but figures quoted in a newspaper never tell the whole story, and are often most deceptive.

When it comes to seeing goods and prices together, we think we make as good a show-ing as any dealer in the city. Our stock is the most desirable we could select from the latest output of the best makers; it was closely bought, and will be sold on a very narrow margin of profit. Why not look it over?
